Building a Brighter Future

Forever change the life of a child with autism.

Clear Horizons Academy is a nonprofit school dedicated to the education of children with Autism Spectrum Disorders. Through its innovative teaching techniques and expert staff, Clear Horizons is transforming the lives of its students and their families.

Autism is a group of developmental disabilities that affect how children perceive the world around them. Autism impacts each person differently, but common symptoms include significant social, communication and behavioral challenges. Today, it is estimated that one in every 110 children will be diagnosed with autism.

Though the cause of autism is still unknown, there is hope. Through the years, children at Clear Horizons Academy have made tremendous progress, showing that they are not to be defined by their autism diagnosis. Children are participating in class, when before it was difficult to pay attention to anyone. Children are having fun playing games with friends, when before they always played alone. Children are saying, “I love you” to parents, when only a short time earlier they couldn’t speak a word.

Since opening its doors in 2005, Clear Horizons Academy has more than quadrupled in size, reaching its physical capacity. It now has a growing waiting list, leaving children unable to access the specialized services that could benefit them the most. For this reason, Clear Horizons has embarked on a $6.5 million capital campaign to construct a state-of-the-art facility centrally located in Orem, Utah.

This new campus will incorporate a multitude of features centered on creating an optimal learning environment for children with autism. The new facility will allow the school to triple the size of its student body, as well as expand its curriculum to include junior-high-aged children. Clear Horizons will also be able to provide even greater outreach to the autism community, including educator trainings and seminars, after-school programs, respite nights, family workshops, and much more.

Give a donation that lasts a lifetime.

You now have the opportunity to partner with Clear Horizons Academy in their mission to dramatically affect the lives of children with autism. By buying a brick to be placed in the new school entry plaza, you become an everlasting supporter of an extraordinary cause. Engraving a personalized brick is also a meaningful way to ensure that your legacy or the legacy of a loved one lives on forever - viewed and appreciated each day by the children and families it benefits. Help us build a brighter future for these special children for generations to come.
